Do you love to tell the story? We recently completed a summer sermon series titled, "I Love to Tell the Story." I trust that you were as blessed as Brent and I were by hearing nine people from the congregation talk about how their Christian faith applies to their daily lives. These were not just autobiographies, but rather, "God stories" – testifying to the power, guidance, grace, call, comfort, and provision of God. I believe that we experienced many "holy moments" in our worship this summer, as we listened to these powerful testimonies. But, just because summer, and this series, has ended, that doesn't mean the stories end! I pray that each of us, each of YOU in the congregation, find opportunities to share your story with others. One of the best ways for you to share your faith with others – such as family members, neighbors, co-workers, other students, etc. – is to talk about places where you've experienced God working in your life. You don't have to be a biblical expert to do this! If these nine persons from the congregation can share for 20-25 minutes in front of 220 people on a Sunday morning, you can surely share some aspect of your faith story for a few minutes with at least one, or two friends. Will you tell the story?

Dear Deep Run East Congregation,

A HUGE thanks to the many people who gave of their time this past weekend to prepare for and be at our Community Fest. We appreciate your willingness to come pull out and prepare booths on Friday night, to help with set up early Sunday morning, and we appreciate all of you who manned a booth or Moon Bounce, did face painting or reached out to visitors. And Thank you to all of you who stayed to help put it ALL away after the fun was over. Thanks to each and every one of you who gave of yourself to help make this time of reaching out to the community possible.

Blessings,
The Community Fest Team

I greatly appreciate all your cards, flowers and your prayers. I really felt your prayers and I was at peace. This is an answered prayer.

Love,
Liz Meyers (Mrs. Garwood Meyers).
